ABSTRACT. “All-round strict governance of the Party is always on the road”, it is the new requirement of the self-construction of Communist Party of China under the new situation to adhere to strict self-governance of the Party, is the new requirement of the Party's development, is also the inheritance and development to strengthen the fine tradition of self-construction under the new conditions in the history of Communist Party of China. Colleges and universities are the main bases for training talents, shouldering the important task of conveying and cultivating high-quality college students with firm ideals and beliefs to the Party organization. Therefore, doing a good job in the education of college students' integrity is not only the inevitable requirement of ideological and political education in colleges and universities, but also an important guarantee to promote the great cause of the Party and the long-term stability and prosperity of the whole country.

1. Introduction

The fight against corruption is an important part of the party's overall governance, an important part of the clean education of colleges and universities. This paper, under the view of all-round strict governance of the party, briefly introduces the current situation of college students' clean education in medical colleges, analyzing the urgency and significance of strengthening the education of medical students' integrity, exploring new ideas and new ways to open up the education of medical students' integrity, aims at constructing a reasonable and efficient education system for medical students, and cultivates more and better medical students who “work for the development of medical and health undertakings in the motherland and for the struggle of human physical and mental health all along the whole life”.

2. Recognizing the Status Quo of Integrity Education to Medical Students

In the current system of education in colleges and universities, the clean education of college students is a weak link. Many schools believe that integrity education is only a matter for teachers and staff, or even a matter for leading cadres in the teaching and administrative staff, and that students are not among the teachers and workers who have not set foot in society and are not in the list of integrity education before they have entered the workforce. This is not aware of the need for college students to be educated in good faith while in school. The education of integrity not only makes college students develop the necessary integrity during their school years, but also lays an important ideological and political foundation for their future life, especially for their career.

3. The Significance of Strengthening the Education of Medical Students' Integrity

Medical students are a special group of college students, in the future career, they will bear the social responsibility of saving the dead and wounded, developing and expanding medical ethics. In recent years, the contradiction between doctors and patients is prominent, the media published various cases of disputes between doctors and patients and injury incidents, which has a direct link with the corruption phenomenon in past years of medical industry, such as “eating, taking, blocking, wanting” etc. Even after the introduction of the spirit of the eight regulations from the Party central committee, all sectors and industries have stepped up efforts to rectify, the hospital's clean self-discipline has improved significantly compared to the previous. However, the relevant provisions and punishment measures are only related to surgeries and part of drugs, which are only functioning partly, or could be “stopgap”, it is so-called “frozen three feet not a day cold”, the problem has not been fundamentally improved that the patients will still put themselves on the opposite side of the hospital and medical staff once the treatment situation is not satisfied or the effect is not obvious, it is easy to be escalated to doctor-patient contradictions, disputes, and even malignant events.

The root of behavioral corruption lies in thoughts. The real “cure” also has to be dependent on Chinese medicine, slowly conditioning. The Chinese medicine for conditioning the disease of “eating, taking, blocking, wanting” and other corruption of medical staff is just to strengthen integrity education, enhance the immunity to corruption. Chinese medicine is slow, long course of treatment, so to take as early as possible, can not wait until taking the position of medical care, instead, should be taken during the university period. The university stage is the key period of the formation of world outlook, outlook on life and values, helping students to grasp this “Masterswitch” and fasten the first button of life, in order to address both symptoms and root causes, no disease to cure. Therefore, to promote the integrity education of medical students in the view of a comprehensive and strict self-governance of the Party, and actively explore the effective carrier of clean education, will not only be related to the future career development of individual students, but also related to the hospital's clean atmosphere and the lives and health and safety of the masses, but also affect the entire medical and hygiene industry and even the whole society's integrity index and the smooth promotion of anti-corruption and integrity work.

4. Model of Innovative Medical Students' Clean Education

4.1 Establishing and Improving the Mechanism of Clean Education

To do a good job of the clean education to the medical students in school, first of all, do a good job of top-level design, setting up a strong mechanism as a guarantee. Establish the leadership of the school leaders, composed of the school discipline committee, the propaganda department, the league committee and the main persons in charge of the political education section in the Ministry of Social Sciences, with the multi-linkage mechanism and the joint actions coupled with the various functional departments, do a good job of the deployment, planning, inspection and evaluation of the work, and integrate it into the important part of the work of the school. At the same time, improve the management mechanism of human resources, on the basis of strengthening the clean education of teachers, the colleges and universities shall cultivate a strong construction team of integrity work specially, to improve the quality and level of the team continuously. Third, increase the material investment in the construction of clean government, strengthen the construction of financial security mechanism. The school should give sufficient financial support to strengthen the related training and management of the integrity education to the integrity construction workforce, the school teachers and students, and create a better platform and space for teachers and students to learn and practice.

4.2 To Highlight the Pertinence to the Clean Education of Medical Students

For example, for freshmen, mainly the education of school discipline and regulation should be performed in the entrance education, the integrity examination education should be strengthened in the eve of the final examination, regarding senior students, among the vocational planning education and employment education, the education of integrity related party discipline and state law knowledge, rational choice of employment, integrity employment and other aspects of the content can be carried out; At the same time, strengthen the socialist core values education, training college students to integrate social morality, professional ethics and family virtues into the daily learning life. For clinical students, the education can be carried out on the topic of “no red envelope”, for medicine marketing students, the education of “no fake account” can be implemented.

4.3 To Strengthen the Campus Integrity Culture Construction of Medical College

It will have a strong radiation and demonstration effect for the formation of college students' sense of integrity that the university itself creates a clean and honest atmosphere and the university staff have the consciously clean teaching style. In the process of promoting the construction of the Party's clean government in medical colleges and universities, the construction of clean culture will be integrated into the ideological and political education of colleges and universities and even the talent training system of colleges and universities, the education of integrity will be expanded into the connotation of ideological and political education, through the multi-directional communication of management, teaching, learning and action, to form an organic combination of professional ability training and integrity education in the interaction between teachers and students, to achieve the whole process, fully engaged, all-round education, and jointly enhance the effect of the construction of clean culture in colleges and universities. First of all, teachers in education and teaching should be a model of virtue for others, clean and self-disciplinary, teachers who are party members can pair with students, as the ideological guidance of college students, work guidance and life assistance. Management personnel must commit to scientific management and integrity services, resolutely put an end to all kinds of improper actions damaging the interests of students. Secondly, all the decisions involved in the vital interests of students, such as: the rules and regulations of student management, scholarship evaluation, student cadre selection, selection of merit students and outstanding cadres, the development of university student party members and so on, the regulations must be open, the working mechanism should be formed to have a wide range of communication, widely absorbing the views of students, and strive to create an atmosphere to manage the school based on laws and rules, so that students can be edified by the culture of clean government in the campus environment under rule of law management. Finally, take use of all available media to spread the knowledge of clean government, to create a moral, honest, disciplined campus environment, in order to strengthen the ideological and moral cultivation of students, enhance the sense of integrity and law-abiding, and develop good behavior habits to create a good environment for education.

5. Conclusion

To carry out the integrity education of medical students is not only one of the important links that reflect the “people-oriented, moral education first” of university education, but also the urgent need to deal with corruption from the source. Colleges and universities, especially higher medical colleges with the goal of training high-quality medical personnel, should take the comprehensive strict governance of the Party and the new normal of anti-corruption and integrity as the basic starting point, with the spirit of stone-based printing and scratching traces on iron, in-depth promoting clean culture education, the construction of clean, rule of law, harmonious campus ecology, so that colleges and universities truly become the important base to provide talent support and intellectual guarantee in order to achieve the “Chinese dream”, for cultivation of useful talents and the construction of advanced culture.
